2. VISION

NHS staff and their families are given free access to live-streamed fitness classes, on-demand wellness content, and discounted local health services through a new App designed to help healthcare staff lead healthier, happier lives despite demanding shift patterns.

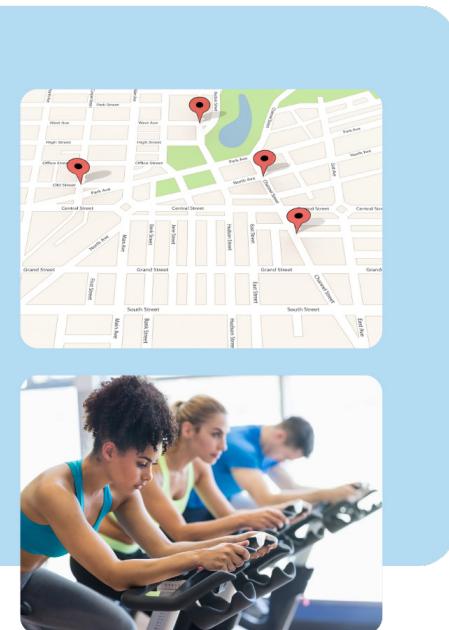

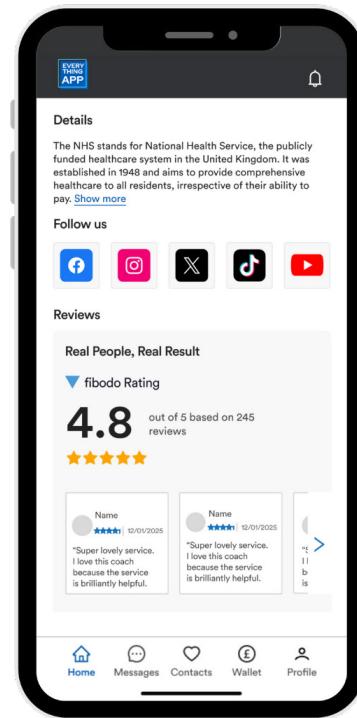

3. INTRODUCTION

The Everything App

Wellbeing made simple. Access made free.

The Everything App is a groundbreaking partnership between the physical activity sector and public health, created to support millions of NHS staff and their families. This powerful digital platform offers free access to a wide range of on-demand and live-streamed activities, plus discounted in-person fitness, sport, and wellbeing services - helping users stay active, connected, and healthy wherever they are.

4. MISSION STATEMENT

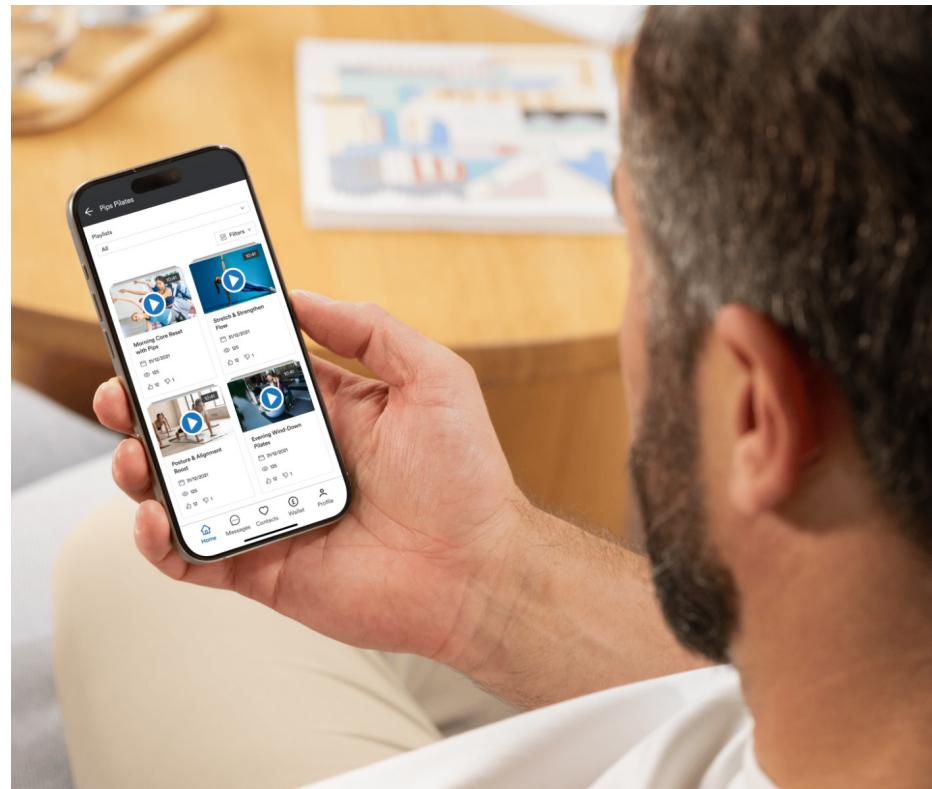

Our mission is to empower NHS staff and their families to lead healthier, happier lives by providing free and affordable access to physical, mental, and social wellbeing services - anytime, anywhere. Through trusted partnerships, inclusive design, and powerful technology, The Everything App brings together on-demand content, live sessions, and local activities to create a single, supportive platform tailored to the real needs of the healthcare workforce.

5. LEADERSHIP TEAM

Key People The app has been five years in the making, driven by a steering group of respected leaders in health and fitness:

- Julie Davis, former Deputy Chief Operating Officer of the NIHR Delivery Network
- David Monkhouse, Director of Active Insight
- Anthony Franklin, CEO and Founder, Fibodo

6. NEWS ANGLES & STORY HOOKS

Prevention, Not Cure

Rather than treating burnout after it has happened, The Everything App offers a preventative solution - combining mental health support, resilience training, and fitness into one integrated platform for NHS workers.

Tackling Loneliness Through Connection

With live-streamed sessions, NHS-only groups, and family access, The Everything App combats isolation by building a supportive digital community - especially for staff in rural, remote, or high-pressure roles.

Primary Story: NHS Sickness Absence Response

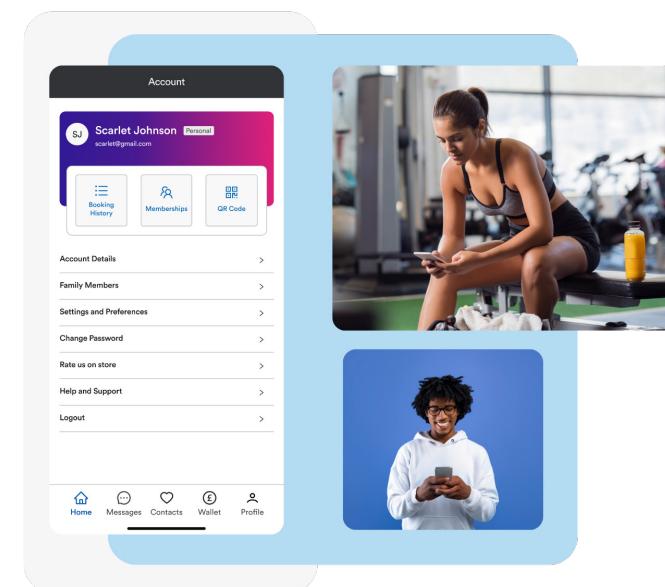

Five years after the pandemic, NHS staff sickness absence is high with staff burnout, this public-private partnership launches the UK's first dedicated wellbeing platform for healthcare workers and their families - completely free of charge.

Innovation Story: Tech for Good

Award-winning fitness technology company Fibodo pivots to serve public health, demonstrating how private sector innovation can address systemic healthcare workforce challenges.

Social Impact Story: Breaking Barriers

This platform removes traditional fitness industry barriers - cost, location, time constraints - that prevent NHS workers from accessing wellbeing services during demanding shift patterns.
